A cheerful country bumpkin bursts into the shop. In his arms he is gently cradling a small piglet

S: Howdy, bossman! Heh. Listen here, I need me one of them electro-bikes! The biggest, baddest one you got!

A: Hey there. Uh... quick question. Why the hell have you brought a piglet here?

S: Oh, you mean Barnaby? Shucks, can't leave him home alone — he gets real lonely, starts squealin' and chewin' through the drywall, the little rascal. Besides, we go everywhere together, he's gonna be my co-pilot! Yee-haw! So, what about that electro-bike?

A: Right... Well, nice to meet you, co-pilot. But what do you need an electric bike for in the countryside anyway?

[PLAYER CHOICES]

[Option A]: Ask about tractor racing (wants to chase Ol' Billy)

[Option B]: Warn immediately that e-bike will fry in swamp mud

- -- If A ---

S: Local pub? Hell no! I wanna chase them damn tractors through the mud flats! Ol' Billy drives his "Belarus" like a maniac through the swamp after the rain, and I wanna tail him right through the muck! Yee-haw! I got them sweet greenbacks, don't you worry! pulls out massive dirty wad Sold my harvest of taters!

A: Whoa, hold your horses mate. An e-bike in deep swamp mud? You'll drown the motor in the first puddle. Water gets in, battery shorts out, boom — your fancy rocket is dead. You'll drag a hundred-pound paperweight back to your farm. You need a pedal-powered mud-shredder. Hardtail MTB or tough gravel.

- -- If B ---

A: Hold on. E-bike in swamp mud? You'll drown the motor. Water in, battery shorts — dead rocket. You'll drag a hundred-pound brick back home. You need a pedal mud-shredder.

S: Local pub? Hell no! I wanna chase them tractors... pulls wad Sold taters! But... if it fries... no, I worked too hard. Alright, no battery! But mean-ass tuning! Real country style!

S: Pedalin'?.. Aw, shucks, that sounds like actual work... But if the electric thingy fries in the bog... No, I worked too hard for this tater money to burn it. Alright, no battery! But it's gotta have mean-ass tuning! Real country style! Tractor tires — big, toothy ones, mud flying everywhere!

A: I can definitely do that. We'll mount the most aggressive mud tires.

S: Hell yeah! And bolt on huge fenders all around, so flying horse manure don't splash into my and Barnaby's mugs! And the frame... Can you spray-paint it? Crazy neon! Make it wild so all boys at the barn dance go green with envy!

A: Haha, you got it. We'll spray-paint the frame in toxic neon, put on mud tires, bolt on full fenders. Come back tomorrow — your tractor-bike will be ready.

S: Yee-haw! That's what I'm talkin' about! I'll go tell Billy to prep his rig! Heh! runs out, clutching squealing co-pilot, rubber boots clapping
